

A Real Treasure

Posted on August 21, 2012 by blueadmin er which is located in the heart of their downtown area. Milan Seniors for Health Li ssion for enhancing the quality of life and encouraging aging with independence and Milan. They operate out of the Milan Senior and Community Activity Center MSHL has a diverse array of activities, programs, and services that are offered ing, cards & games, meals, a computer lab, trips, massage therapy, manicure educational speakers, language classes, and more; you are sure to find something ation services they run? Aged 50+ and living in the 48160 zip code, you can be picked up Monday, Wednesday and Thursday 9 to 2—just give them 24 hours notice. Come see what special events are coming up! The center celebrated its second anniversary as a non-profit in July 2012. But the best thing about the center is that it is filled with the kind of people you want to get to know—let me introduce you to one of their key volunteers. she does—and it really shows in her smile as she describes setting up the kitchen every morning and working the Milan Community Center. “Hermione is the first one there in the morning and the last to leave,” says her husband. Hermione loves working with the people she meets at the center—both her coworkers and the folks who come to the center. She was born 97 years ago in Ypsilanti where she went to Woodruff Elementary School. She has seen a lot of change in the town. You can find a story online about the Woodruff’s in Ypsilanti history the Ann Arbor District Library website: <http://ypsiglean.com> 3459 Hermione and her husband, LaVerne moved to Milan in relatively modern times, 1955. Hermione says she found then. Hermione retired from working on the male ward of the state hospital 40 years ago when the community center was just opening. She and her husband, Verne wanted to keep busy in retirement. They felt lucky to find such a great volunteer opportunity close to home. Although Verne has now passed away, Hermione continues to volunteer at the center. She says she would recommend volunteering to anyone because it gets you out of the house and keeps you active. Hermione says that in addition to walking outside everyday, she gets plenty of exercise setting the tables, lifting trays, and serving food at the center. MSHL director Jennifer Michalak added “Hermie is an amazing individual that offers inspiration to all of us. You should ask her to quote some poetry. She is a treasure trove of memorized poems for every occasion.. What is the best thing about the center? Hermione says she is proud of everything about it—the beautiful building and all the activities, but the best thing is the people: “All of us have lost a spouse or child and there is so much support here. We are all there for each other.” Hermione’s favorite thing to do is to spend time with her family, and she is an avid knitter. In fact, Hermione knits and donates an afghan every year for the senior center to raffle off and it is always a “hot ticket” item. Hermione is also active in the Lutheran church which is an important part of her life. As we finished the interview, I walked Hermione back to the kitchen where her co-worker, Ed greeted her with this banter: “Perfect timing! You show up when we are all done with the work!” Hermione suggested I interview Ed, too, but Ed modestly declined the offer, saying he’d rather we gave Hermione all the attention: “She’s been here way longer than any of us!” he said. Ed looked like he was, like Hermione, another one of the kind of people you’d like to get to know—looks like I will definitely need to make another visit to Milan soon!

RETURN TO "FACES OF POSITIVE AGING"

Posted in: People You Know | | With 0 comments
